Introduction to Ecumenical Refugee Services:

The world refugee population has reached an astounding 14.5 million (UNHCR). Refugees have been forced from their homes and face persecution and even death if they dare to return to their native land. Before fleeing their country many refugees experienced malnutrition, imprisonment, loss of loved ones, loss of home, and physical and mental torture. Refugees are forced to make the difficult decision to leave behind friends, family, and everything they know, for a life they can only hope will be better than the misery they have fled.

Once refugees arrive in the United States they are often disappointed with their situations. They enter the country disadvantaged in terms of social and economic class. Most do not speak English. They face discrimination and racial insults from U.S. citizens who are not sympathetic to their plight and resent their presence in the United States. Refugees' limited English skills restrict the jobs available to them. Many former doctors find themselves working in factories.

In Denver, the shortage of affordable housing and the rising cost of energy exacerbate problems. Instead of the nice house they dreamed of they live in small apartments filled with donated furniture. In addition to these shattered dreams, they are homesick for the people they were forced to leave behind.

Ecumenical Refugee Services (ERS) strives to ease the difficulty of the refugee's transition to life in America. The agency works to ensure each refugee family has an opportunity to fully integrate into their communities. In cooperation with churches, community volunteers, and a caring staff, the agency makes sure all refugees are cared for and given the best resettlement services available. ERS works with a number of agencies, employers, landlords, health and mental health care providers throughout Denver to provide high quality assistance for each of its refugee families.

It is essential that the refugee family receive case management assistance during the first year they are in the country. Knowing that they have a group of Americans that care about them and support them helps refugees to find the strength and courage to overcome obstacles, learn English, and find good jobs. This encouragement toward self-sufficiency decreases the risk of refugees becoming dependent on welfare or ending up homeless.

Sponsorship Guidelines

ERS GOAL

Ease the struggles for refugees as they become self sufficient in Denver.

ERS OBJECTIVES

1. Provide case management and support for one year after arrival in the U.S.
2. Locate affordable housing for each refugee family.
3. Assist each employable refugee in finding a suitable job.
4. Assure access to English classes
5. Provide necessary health and mental health care.
6. Match each family with a community volunteer to assist in community integration

Volunteer Job Description:

Church Sponsorship and Co-Sponsorship

... let us love, not in word or speech, but in truth and action.

I John 3:18

"You shall treat the stranger as one of your own" - Leviticus

ERS is an affiliate of Church Worlds Services and Episcopalian Migration Ministries. As such, our Sponsorship Director (Genevieve Cruise) works with a large number of churches and other organizations in Colorado to set up Sponsorships and Co-Sponsorship arrangements between congregations and a refugee case

Your congregation's participation in this sponsorship role can vary based on the resources you currently have available for such an effort. It can range from full sponsorship, including financial support, to limited sponsorship, where you work with ERS to provide the support (for example household donations) that you can.

ERS is happy to work with all congregations to create a custom program that will work for you.

Quote from Church World Service Web Site: "People of faith the world over have the strength and knowledge to take the leadership role in addressing their own challenges. So one of the best ways to help is to talk... to listen... to learn... and to share resources appropriate to people' identified needs.

Building partner relationships with regional and national ecumenical bodies around the world, as well as with our member communions in the U.S, has been a hallmark of Church World Service throughout our 55-year history. We work to strengthen common witness among Christian's and nurture interfaith dialogue and cooperation. In partnership, we are engaging councils of churches across the U.S. and worldwide to bring new commitment and vitality to ecumenical mission in the 21st century."

Quote from Episcopalian Migration Ministries Web Site: "As the numbers of persons seeking protection from persecution increases and safety from violence becomes a more urgent need in so many parts of the world, the Episcopal Church in the spirit of Jubilee, affirms its commitment to those suffering from persecution and forced migration. This extends to strengthening relations with ecumenical and Anglican partners in lifting up and responding to the concerns of displaced persons.

Sponsorship Guidelines

Underlying this is a commitment to stand in solidarity with our suffering sisters and brothers through our prayer life and liturgical expressions. As we live into our commitment to be the body of Christ, we offer our prayers and our resources to accompanying those who are surely among those vulnerable persons whom our Lord has called us to serve.

Sponsorship Guidelines

Case Managers usually know a day or two in advance regarding when a family will arrive and where they will live. They will arrange a convenient time with you to meet at the family's new home.

Work closely with the Case Manager to determine who should be responsible for each household item.

Notes:

This is an exciting activity that is a joint effort between the Case Manager, any Volunteer Sponsors the family might have, and the volunteer or volunteer group wishing to help.

*Often, ERS has donated furniture readily available in our storage area or sponsors have already collected some items of furniture that are needed. Some items, like pillows, should be purchased new, and coordinated and documented through the Volunteer Coordinator. The important thing is to set up an initial game plan to ensure that all items are supplied, and that good coordination and communication is occurring between the different people who are working to set up the home.

When providing items to place in the refugee's new home, keep the families religious and cultural background in mind. For example, a big strong pot to cook soup in is very important. A "Salad Shooter" that they may not have any idea how to use would be useless. Knives to cut food are important. Candle holders, while nice to have, are not as important. When in doubt, check with the Volunteer Coordinator or Case Manager.

Volunteer Job Description: Food Shopping

Time Commitment:

From 2 to 8 hours

Frequency: On call, as needed. Case Managers usually know a day or two in advance regarding when a family will arrive, and will arrange a convenient time with you to meet at the family's new home.

Notes:

Each new family receives a budget of about $100 to provide initial food and necessary supplies. ERS Volunteers shop for last minute food items and perishables, with the goal of providing a few days of meals and staples so the often tired and overwhelmed family doesn't have to rush right out and go shopping.

Our goal is to buy the best food values that we are reasonably sure will be necessary, nutritious and appealing to the family. We like to have as much money as possible left over for the family to use at their discretion.

Shop for bargains and sales. Buy store brands when they are cheaper. Buy staples like potatoes in bulk. Always take a club card for the grocery store you will be using. The Case Manager or the Volunteer Coordinator will advise you of the family's ethnicity and the number and ages of any children, to assist you in customizing your shopping efforts.

Ethic Considerations: Avoid all products containing pork (prohibited by some religions, such as Muslim), unless the Case Manager tells you otherwise.

Canned Food: Avoid if possible, since many cultures aren't used to can goods and avoid them when possible.

Convenience Foods: Avoid if possible, since many cultures are not familiar with them, as well as they do not usually represent a good value for the money.

Sample Shopping list and budget. Remember, your Case Manager or volunteer coordinator may suggest changes to this list on a case by case basis:

It isn't easy finding a new job in the best of times. Now imagine trying to find a job in a struggling economy where you have limited English skills, limited skills that apply in America, and no references. Now add to that the pressure of finding gainful employment within months of arriving in a new country.

That's what it is like for our newly arrived refugees. This position allows you to assist our employment specialists in helping to work with refugees who have special employment challenges or needs.

Specialty Collection

Refugees coming to this country with nothing are in great need of many things we take for granted. Hygiene products, linens, glassware, dishes, cookware, phones, calendars, and clocks are all things that refugees need. You can help by working with the Volunteer Coordinator to help coordinate the effort to collect and deliver some of these items to the refugee families - particularly those that are in short supply. This is a great volunteer opportunity if you work at a large company and have access to lots of friends or co-workers who may have just what we need sitting unused in their basements.

Commitment time: 1 or more hours per week.

Helping in the Storage Shed:

ERS receives many donations to help refugees furnish their new homes. We need people to help catalogue and organize our storage shed. Help keep track of inventory and let us know when we get low on certain items. Help sort items like sheets, towels, dishes, etc. into packages for new families. Help organize toys by appropriate age group. All our refugee families benefit from the furniture and household items we keep in storage. It is very important we keep it organized.

Commitment time: 1 or more hours per week, for 3 months or more

Help Moving Furniture:

If you have a truck, or are just willing to lend some muscle, we often need help moving furniture into refugee's home, or from a pickup location to the storage sheds.

Commitment time: 1 or more hours per week, as needed and as you are available.

Tracking Volunteer Hours, Miles, and Donations:

It is important to keep in touch with ERS when you volunteer with us. We not only care about how your volunteer experience is going, but we want to make sure we acknowledge what you have done for us. In addition to keeping in touch with the Case Manager and the Volunteer Coordinator, we ask all volunteers to keep track of hours, miles and expenses on the following form.

Your hours, miles, and gifts can also benefit ERS in other ways. Some of the programs we utilized or our refugee families will provide "matching" funds based on these "in-kind" donations. Your gift of time can go twice as far for our refugees when we keep track of your hours.
